the grand jury having indicted it for maintaining a nuisance. The people present were a unit in favor of the company, provided they will put their route and their cars in decent order and keep them so, but not otherwise.
"Very few money from the good old times," is the inscription on a handsomer framed collection of about fifty different varieties and denominations of the ship-plaster, wild-cat and other paper currency in circulation twenty years ago. The display hangs on the wall near the entrance of the Mansfield bank, on Madison street, and it is a real curiosity, as well as a silent argument in favor of the new regime, too convincing for reasonable discussion.
A deal of tall swearing has been done in the Henochberg fire case, now before the United States court.
The jury aided by the wisdom of Judge Hammond, will doubtless be equal to the task of sifting the truth from the untruthful portion. At least it is to be hoped this result may be attained. Mr. Henochberg is endeavoring to recover several thousand dollars of insurance on the contents of a store he occupied when it was destroyed on Main street early in January last, and when two firemen were killed by the walls falling upon them.
The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary, but no clue has been discovered as to who acted the fire-bug's part.

The Flatboats Again.
Several flatboats are now at our landing with cargoes of produce which they offer on our market. Among the list is Captain W. H. Mallory with a load of apples, cider, grind-stones and coal from Clarion, Monroe county, Virginia, some twenty-five miles below Wheeling. The trip was made from Clarion here in twenty-four days, coming in the tow of the Sea Lion, a new boat recently built out of Wild Boy. In the same tow came Captain Williamson, from Matamoras, upper Ohio, with a load of apples for our market. Captain Powell's boat dropped in to the landing yesterday with his load of cabbage and potatoes to sell here, and he came from the upper Ohio. The Sea Lion proceeds southward with three boats loaded with apples, potatoes and sundries, two belonging to Captain Monteth and one to Captain Prince.
